Ike Says Richard Nixon Is Completely Vindicated

May Eclipse
MacArthur
Wire Record

By The Associated Press
Americans by the tens of thousands responded with a tumultuous outpouring of messages yesterday in reply to Sen. Richard M. Nixon's dramatic radio-TV plea of innocence in using an $18,000 political fund.

Nixon had asked the people to give their verdict—whether he should step aside or remain as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's vice presidential running mate on the Republican ticket.

The response was swift and vast.

Many women wept. Telegraph wires were jammed, with huge backlogs. Offers of money for a new "Nixon fund" piled up. Newspapers throughout the country were swamped with requests for the address of Republican national headquarters—something Nixon forgot to mention.

Republican leaders summed up the verdict this way—"overwhelming exonerated." "Republicans are proud of Nixon." "A man of shining integrity." "The smear attack has backfired."

Democrats said—Nixon failed to give a full account of his financial affairs. "Nixon fanned out." "A soap opera drama."

GOP headquarters in Washington, D. C., said telegrams supporting Nixon were pouring in at a rate of 100,000 a day and were expected to eclipse the record set when President Truman fired Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Nixon himself still showed signs of strain after his unprecedented ordeal. However, he joked and appeared relaxed as he took off in a chartered plane from Missoula, Mont., for a face-to-face meeting with Gen. Eisenhower at Wheeling, W. Va.

"We have just begun to fight," Nixon told a cheering crowd. "Just wait and see."

At the White House, there was no immediate comment on Nixon's defense, and Democratic bigwigs generally commented in somewhat restrained terms although predicting that the net effect of the Nixon episode would be to swell the prospects of a Democratic victory in November.

On the Republican side, Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield of the GOP National Committee told newsmen in Cleveland:

"The smear attack on Sen. Nixon has backfired. This is the turning point of the 1952 campaign."

Summerfield said he was "certain" Nixon would be kept on the Republican ticket.

Western Union officials said their offices were choked with calls in every corner of the nation. They called it one of the biggest message jams in telegraphic history.

In Washington, Mrs. Ivy Priest, assistant chairman of the GOP National Committee, said telephone and telegraph messages from women who listened to Nixon's broadcast "demonstrated a tremendous upsurge of interest in politics by American women."

"The drama of Sen. Nixon's account made them realize how important the election is to them and their families," Mrs. Priest said.

"Some said his great humility moved them to action. . . Others said he personified for them the rebirth of a high moral standard. He captured their hearts with his honesty."

Other comment included: Sen. Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire, Senate Republican leader: The speech "served to bring Sen. Nixon and his leader, Gen. Eisenhower, far closer to final victory in the November election."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York: "A superb statement by a man of shining integrity and great purpose in the service of his country."

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O): "Nixon's explanation was most effective. But I did not need to be convinced. I had been convinced long before."

GOP National Committeeman G. Mason Owlett of Pennsylvania: "The attempt to smear Nixon will boomerang against the Democrats."

Stevenson Rejects Demand
That He Name Recipients
Of His Special 'Gift' Fund

Springfield, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson yesterday rejected demands that he name key Illinois state officials whose pay he said he has supplemented with "gifts" from a special fund.

The Democratic presidential nominee again defended use of the fund. He said it enabled him to attract to state jobs men of "real competence" who otherwise couldn't afford to leave private employment.

But he said to name them or the amounts they received would "subject them to publicity which they do not deserve and would, I believe, be a breach of faith on my part."

The governor discussed the controversial fund at a breakfast meeting of volunteers for Stevenson at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel in Baltimore, Md. His audience of 550 partisans listened quietly while he talked of the fund; then gave him a standing ovation at the end.

Afterward, Stevenson flew home to his campaign base here in Springfield, ending a week-long Eastern tour.

The special Stevenson fund got into the headlines two days ago when a Chicago business executive, Kent Chandler, called on the governor to explain it to the public.

At the breakfast meeting in Baltimore, there was no advance indication Stevenson was going to discuss the matter. He had declined last night to comment on Nixon's address.

About halfway along in his speech to the volunteers, however, Stevenson—who had been talking "off the cuff"—suddenly turned to a prepared text which newsmen had not been told he had.

Solemnly, he said that for some time he has been very much concerned about the difficulty of recruiting high class men of "real competence" to government service.

and to name those who contributed, the amounts they gave, and those who received money.

Chandler, vice chairman of A.B. Dick & Company, office supply manufacturers, likened the Stevenson fund to the one into which political supporters of Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, the GOP vice presidential candidate, paid $18,000 for Nixon's use.

Nixon, in saying last night there was nothing wrong about his accepting the money, called on Stevenson to name those who contributed to the Illinois fund, and to "give the names of the people who put money into their pockets."

Leader Urges
Election Of Treasurer

York, Pa. (AP)—Sen. George M. Leader, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, said last night it would be a "good business practice" to elect a Democratic state treasurer during a Republican administration.

"When our state government becomes a billion dollar a year business, as it is today, I think a few good business practices would be helpful," he said at a rally at White Oaks Park.

He said: "Would you write a four billion dollar blank check and give it to the Republican machine in this state to spend?"

"Sounds fantastic, doesn't it? Yet consider a few facts."

"Pennsylvania is electing a state treasurer for a four-year term. In that time he will handle at least four billion dollars of your money. For two more years of the Gov. John S. Fine administration, at least, he will be paying bills incurred or approved by Republican functionaries."

"You are going to have a Republican administration in this state for two more years at least, whether you like it or not. But you don't have to have a Republican auditing that Republican administration's bills as state treasurer."

At Elizabethtown, Dauphin County, former Judge Guy K. Bard Democratic senatorial nominee, praised his party for selecting both Leader and himself as candidates coming from rural counties.

Leader comes from York County; Bard from Lancaster County.

Caudle was fired by President Truman last November, in the midst of a congressional study of the handling of tax fraud cases, for engaging in "outside activities" which Truman said were not compatible with his job.

McGrath got the axe in April a few hours after he had dismissed the discussion of who wanted whose scalp closed out nearly a week of testimony by Caudle, former assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal and later of the tax frauds division, before a House Judiciary subcommittee investigating the Justice Department.

SEN. RICHARD NIXON, Republican vice presidential candidate, is pictured as he appeared on television sets throughout the nation to explain the controversial fund issue. He said there was nothing wrong in his use and disposition of the fund and won tens of thousands of supporting wires as well as Eisenhower-National Republican Committee support.

Caudle Says McGrath Told
He Knew Enough To Blow
The White House 'So High'

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Former Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath once said he knew "enough about the White House to blow it so high that force of gravity would never bring it back to earth," T. Lamar Caudle told investigating congressmen yesterday.

The ousted former aide to McGrath also said his old chief told him "a White House clique" was behind Caudle's firing. He added that McGrath said the same group was "after" the attorney general himself.

After the hearing, however, Caudle was asked who belonged to any such group. He said he wasn't sure, but could guess.

He named Charles Murphy, special counsel to the President, David Stowe, an administrative assistant, and the late Joseph H. Short, press secretary.

Later the White House said there would be no comment on the testimony.

Caudle told the reporters McGrath "probably will jump on me" for his remark about enough information to blow up the White House.

"I wish I hadn't brought it up," he added.

Women Political Leaders
Give Their Nixon Slants

Meadville, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Emma Guffy Miller, Pennsylvania Democratic national committeewoman from Slippery Rock, declared yesterday that Sen. Richard M. Nixon's speech last night, defending his privately-raised expense account, was "simply a plea of no defense."

Addressing a meeting of 300 persons, mostly Democratic women leaders from 10 Northwestern Pennsylvania counties, Mrs. Miller said:

"Sen. Nixon delivered a very emotional defense but no judge would have accepted that as valid evidence. It was a no defense speech."

Other talks were given by Miss Genevieve Blatt, Democratic candidate for state auditor, and Mrs. Carmen R. Reche of Albuquerque, N. M., a courier for the women's division of the Democratic National Committee.

"All over the U. S. state governments have been the most sorely neglected field," said Mrs. Blatt. "Republicans have controlled Pennsylvania 53 of the last 57 years. The State Republican Committee in 1952 didn't even bother to adopt a state platform. There was no need to do so. Their 1950 platform is still good as new—it has never been used."

Facts in Pennsylvania, under Republican administration, are the highest ever."

GOP Committee
Says Nominee Is Worthy Of Trust

Wheeling, W. Va., (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told a cheering throng here last night Sen. Richard M. Nixon had "completely vindicated himself" of charges in connection with a privately-raised expense fund.

The Republican presidential nominee said at the close of a speech he believed Nixon had "been subjected to an unfair and vicious attack."

Eisenhower said that he had received from Arthur Summerfield, Republican national chairman, a message that 107 of 138 members of the Republican National Committee who could be reached want Nixon to remain on the ticket.

As for Nixon, Eisenhower expressed this personal sentiment as his own:

"He is not only completely vindicated as a man of honor but as far as I am concerned he stands higher than ever before."

Although there was nothing officially sealing Nixon's position on the ticket, Eisenhower's statement combined with the report from Summerfield made it certain that the California senator will continue as the vice presidential nominee.

Eisenhower quoted Summerfield's telegram to the senator that Republican National Committee members regard Nixon as "worthy of the highest public trust."

Summerfield said that as a member of the national committee he believes "America has taken Dick Nixon to its heart."

Eisenhower then asked Nixon to move before the microphone. The California senator referred to his radio-television broadcast last night as fulfilling an obligation he felt he had to the people.

Adopting Eisenhower's own words, Nixon told the crowd that he believes "candidates for president and vice president must be as clean as a hound's tooth, as the general said, and that's why I went before the people to answer the charges that were made."

Nixon said that a lesser man than Eisenhower might have said at the very beginning that the charges against Nixon were "just smear," and that he would not listen to them.

"I am glad Gen. Eisenhower didn't do that," Nixon said. "There has been too much of that in the present administration—too much clamping up when charges were made in high places. People don't want any more of that."

Nixon said that what Eisenhower had done in this instance involved the whole political future and the success of the Republican campaign.

"He told me to take the case to the people, tell the truth and then we would decide what would be done," Nixon said.

Nixon said he felt this was a sharp contrast to the actions of President Truman and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic nominee for president.

The California senator had demanded that Stevenson explain a fund raised in Illinois to supplement the salaries of state appointive officials.

The California senator asserted, however, that Stevenson had "clammed up" and he won't tell the people about the fund raised for him.

"If he refuses to tell the people. . . it will be an admission he has something to hide and it will insure his defeat in this election."

As Nixon spoke, Eisenhower sat leaning forward in his chair, listening intently. The general was wrapped in a heavy gray overcoat with a red scarf around his neck and wore his hat to guard against the chill of the evening.

Hope Contract
Of Two Million

Hollywood, (AP)—Bob Hope's representatives yesterday announced what they called the biggest single season deal in radio's history—a two-million-dollar contract under which the comedian will do six shows a week.

The sponsor will be General Foods Corp. Hope will invade daytime radio for the first time with a 15-minute show on tape, five days a week, Monday through Friday. He also will do a 30-minute night variety show for the same sponsor, tentatively scheduled for each Wednesday. Both programs will be carried by the NBC network.

James L. Saphier, Hope's radio-TV representative, said the daytime shows will start Nov. 10 and continue for 35 weeks. The weekly night show will start next Jan. 7 and continue for 26 weeks.

Schools Perfect Special Program For Pennsylvania Week

Will Be Hosts To Industries Before Dinner

Arrangements for Business-Industrial Day, a feature of Pennsylvania Week, were announced yesterday by Earl F. Groner, publicity director for the school sponsored program and superintendent of Stroudsburg schools.

Highlights of the occasion, slated for Tuesday, Oct. 14 will be the visitation of Monroe County schools by representatives of industry, and industry, culminating with a banquet at Buck Hill Falls Inn at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Howard Fehr, of Columbia University has been engaged as the main speaker, Groner disclosed. Subject of his address will be "Forward with the Four R's."

Ralph Burrows, chairman of the Monroe County Principal's Association is heading the group arranging for the event, reciprocal program since business and industry last year feuded the teachers. Named by Burrows as committee chairman are John C. Lotts, visitation chairman; Carl Secor, banquet chairman and Groner, publicity director.

This year's program is being sponsored by the Monroe County Principal's Association, Monroe County Branch of Pennsylvania State Education Association, Stroudsburg branch, PSEA and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College PSEA branch.

Men in business and industry will be extended an invitation to visit schools in Monroe County to learn the plant operations and witness sessions in classrooms.

School sessions will continue normally and the visitations will begin at 1:30 p. m., following the noon hour Pennsylvania Week banquet being arranged by the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce for the Penn-Stroud Hotel. Teachers and representatives of business and industry, numbering nearly 300 persons, are expected to participate in the banquet at Buck Hill Falls Inn.

Last year business and industry opened their doors for a tour by Monroe County teachers.

Brotherhood To Sponsor Boy Scouts At St. John's

A well attended meeting of the Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran Church was held Tuesday night in the church school room. Members decided to sponsor the Boy Scouts at the church.

Among the other business transacted was the plan for a special meeting in October at which time a prominent speaker will be secured. All of the men of the church with their ladies were invited to attend.

Reports from the various committees indicated forward movement. Announcement was made that Mr. Fues, a prominent businessman and banker from Maryland, was elected president of the United Lutheran Brotherhood of America to succeed Ralph J. Wohlson, brother of Dr. Wohlson, who was not eligible for re-election. The committee on the ladies night held in August reported that affair to have been a decided success. President Edward Wagner appointed the following officers to serve for the month of October: Morning services: C. S. Kitchen, J. A. Kitchen, George T. Robinson and James Hantjies; night services: William Andress, Henry Buck, Edward Hardentine and Olen Hagerty.

Parke W. Kunkle presented the topic "The Christian and Labor conditions" which evoked considerable discussion among the members. During the discussion it was reported that the Ministerium of Pennsylvania has instituted a series of Labor-Management Institutes and that one of these will be held at Muhlenberg College during the month of November, when representatives of labor and management will sit down and discuss the whole program.

Select Cast For Play At E. S. High

The Senior Class of East Stroudsburg High School has selected Edward Streeter's "The Father of the Bride" as its play for the 1952-53 school year.

Adapted by Carolyn Francke from the book by Streeter, which was a Book-of-the-Month Club selection and was turned into a successful motion picture in 1943, the play deals with the "forgotten man" of the wedding ceremony—the bride's father.

Announcement of students selected to portray leading roles in the play was made yesterday by Gilbert Dunning who will serve as faculty director of the senior play this year.

Included in the cast are Laurence Miller, Joan Dowling, Mary Sue Harvey, Morris Dawson, Ed Weyandt, James Fritz, John Kolum, Connie Beers, Nancy Walters, Dolores Harrison, John Eaton, Richard Moore, Janet Armitage, Richard Van Why and David Terrell.

Several smaller roles, mostly "non-speaking" parts, have yet to be filled, Dunning said yesterday. With the major parts cast, however, the director called the first run-through rehearsal last night at 7 at the school.

The play will be produced November 13. Barbara Leither will serve as prompter and assistant to the director.

Dr. J. L. Runney will be out of town Sept. 20th through Oct. 1st—Adv.

Dr. C. S. Flagler will be out of town Sept. 29 to Oct. 2.—Adv.

YMCA Directors Approve Plans For New Building Project

Main Building Scheduled For Early Action

The building plans for the new Monroe County YMCA Building program, including the main building, swimming pool and gymnasium drawn up in line with the original setup prepared by the National Y. Building Bureau, New York City, were approved at a special meeting of the directors yesterday afternoon. The president, D. W. Frankenhoff, presided.

Dr. Joseph F. Noonan, building committee chairman, explained the meeting had been called to consider some slight changes in the plans presented at the last regular board meeting which were agreed to.

H. T. Kinker, of the firm of Kinker and Kiefer, local architects, who have the contract for preparing the plans, explained the rough drawings. The building plans will be set up as three units.

The first is the main building facing Main St., at the present location; second, the swimming pool and third, the gymnasium. The structures can be erected separately. Emphasis at this time is on the main building. A financial campaign will be necessary for the completion of the entire plant as contemplated.

The architects are hopeful of completion of the plans and specifications by the first of November. This accomplished, the directors will take final action on approval and the advertising for bids will be authorized. Every effort will be made, the board agreed, to get actual operations on the main building started at the earliest possible date.

The main structure will be erected in the space in front of the present building. It will be located within eight feet of the sidewalk and will be 98 feet long and 47 feet deep. It is to be built of brick and limestone.

The basement of the main structure will have space for boiler room, storage and an exercise room.

There will be two entrances to the first floor of the building. One will be for juniors, the other for seniors with office space between the two.

On the second floor there will be a room 27 by 40 feet which can be used for dining room for banquets as well as other purposes. The kitchen will be adjoining and there will be two other rooms, one of which can be utilized as a club room and the other toilets.

Provision is also made for the installation of a folding partition between the small rooms and the large one whereby added space can be provided to accommodate additional people at a banquet.

Arrangement is also made for the installation of a dumb waiter leading from the kitchen to the new gymnasium making it possible to accommodate a very large banquet, the architects said.

The dormitories will take up the space on the third floor. Plans call for 14 single rooms and three double rooms, toilet facilities and necessary storage.

The swimming pool and gymnasium will occupy the space of the present building. The pool, which will be 20 by 60 feet will be on the west side and the gymnasium adjoining to the east.

Ernest Glenski, representing the Y National Building Bureau, and General Secretary John R. Wilson conferred with the architects, Kinker and Kiefer, at their office on Tuesday when they went over the plans for the building program.

President Frankenhoff named Jesse Flory, J. Albert Groner and Ted D. Hoffman to meet with Rev. Harold N. MacMurray, of Mountaintown, and his committee to confer on the proposed new Y branch to be opened there as to capital expense and other details. The matter was taken up at a recent meeting of the board.

Directors in attendance at the meeting in addition to President Frankenhoff were: A. J. Zabriskie, C. A. Keiper, Frank LeBar, A. F. Everitt, A. W. Williams, Thomas Kistler, Ted D. Hoffman, J. Albert Groner, Mrs. W. T. Toewe, Merle C. Ostrom, Dr. J. F. Noonan, and General Secretary John R. Wilson.

Collie Will Nurse Tiger

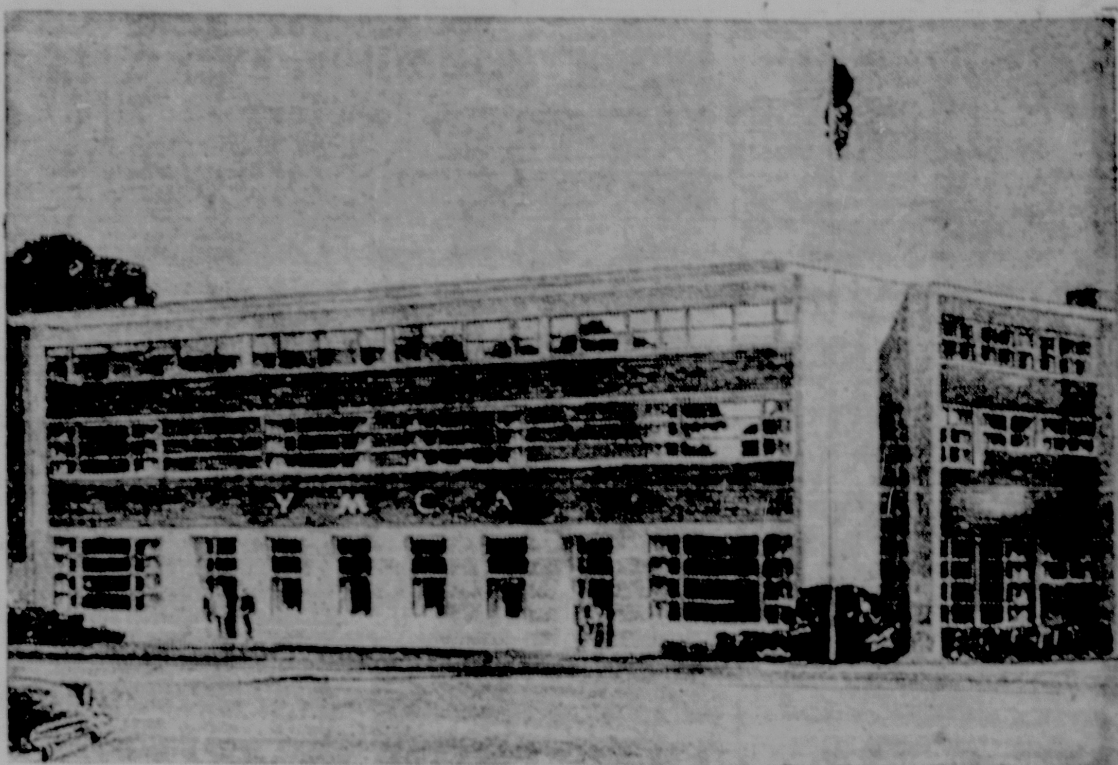

Dublin, Ireland, (AP)—A collie named Tuls moved into the Dublin Zoo yesterday with her four pups and took on an emergency job of wet nursing a tiger cub.

Zoo officials last night appealed for a female collie to act as a substitute mother for the newly-born tiger cub. The cub's mother, Sita, had gone on a sildown strike and zoo attendants feared the cub might die from lack of milk. A second cub born at the same time died shortly after birth.

Coolbaugh Supervisors Adopt Zoning Ordinance; Select Three For Board

Tobyhanna—Supervisors of Coolbaugh Township have adopted a zoning ordinance and named a Zoning Board to administer the law which is intended to control and regulate the expansion of the community as it grows under the impact of the 3,500 employment factor at the $33,000,000 Signal Depot.

Formal action on the ordinance took place on Saturday, Sept. 13. The ordinance confines the zoning to Coolbaugh Township. Yesterday the zoning map and other documents connected with the action were filed with Register and Recorder Floyd Warner.

Harold B. Kresge, Tobyhanna, has been named chairman of the Zoning Board. His fellow-members are William Marsh, Tobyhanna and Berne Cramer, Pocono Summit.

Zoning ordinance is the basic feature of a plan to create a housing development in and near Tobyhanna, plans for which were developed by Clifton Rodgers, Rochester, Pa., planning consultant. Briefly, the ordinance does this:

Regulates and restricts heights, number of stories, and size of buildings and other structures, the percentage of lot that may be occupied, the size of yards and other open spaces, the density of population and the local and use of buildings, structures, and land for trade, industry, residence or other purposes.

Ordinance provides for a Board of Adjustment and their powers, provides for appeals; provides for administration of the ordinance and penalties for its violation, and defines words and terms used.

Ordinance is designed to lessen congestion in the roads and streets; secure safety from fire, panic and other dangers; provide adequate light and air; prevent over-crowding of land; facilitate the adequate provision of transportation, water, sewage, schools, parks, other public requirements; promote the health, safety, morals and general welfare of the region.

Use of land under the zoning includes residential, business, industrial, agricultural, public, recreational and others.

It regulates and restricts the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, repair or use of buildings, structures, or land. All regulations are uniform for each class or kind of buildings throughout the township.

Heads Lutheran Women's Society

Philadelphia, (AP)—Mrs. John B. Moose of Columbia, S. C., yesterday was named president of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Lutheran Church in America. She succeeds Mrs. C. W. Baker Jr., of Duquesne, Pa.

The selection was made at the final session of the five-day convention here. The 385 delegates from 43 states, Canada and the Caribbean elected a 15-member executive board for the next three years. It includes Mrs. L. G. Shannon, Williamsport, Pa.

Opposed To Censorship

Lewistown, Pa., (AP)—President Horace Hildreth yesterday told 1,900 Bucknell University students he is opposed to censorship of books in college libraries. "The real problem," he said at "convection exercises," arises not on the possession but on the use of controversial material."

Chest Dinner Next Monday

Invitations to the annual dinner for Community Chest workers have been mailed out, it was announced yesterday.

In order that proper facilities may be in operation for the dinner on Monday, Sept. 29, all those who have received invitations are requested to reply promptly.

Replies should be in the Community Chest office not later than tonight. Those invited may call 2231.

The dinner, which is given by Gerald P. O'Neill, owner of the Penn-Stroud, for the workers, will begin promptly at 6:30 p.m. Since numerous other activities have been scheduled for Monday night, including the first Community Concert, the starting time will be rigidly enforced, Chest officials announced yesterday.

Scot Brown Is Named Student Council Head

Newfoundland—Scot Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorimer Brown, Angels, has been named president of the student council at the

Scot Brown

Greene-Dreher-Sterling school, Joseph Jacobs, supervising principal, has announced.

Brown was elected to head the student-governing body in school-wide balloting, Jacobs said.

The honor climaxes a high school career marked by outstanding accomplishments, both scholastically and in extra-curricular activities. Brown, a senior, has been named to the honor roll consistently throughout his school career and has been active in all school affairs and in Boy Scout work.

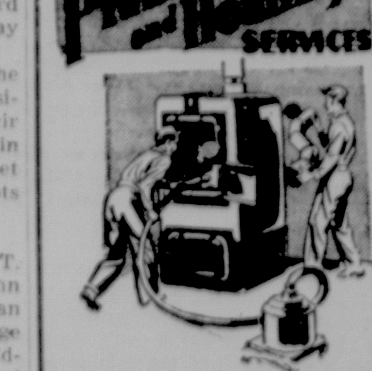

He is presently serving as president of the senior class and acted in the same capacity last term as a junior. Captain of the basketball team this year, Brown has been a member of the school band since its organization and has appeared in a number of dramatic presentations at the school.

Brown attained the rank of Eagle Scout, highest honor in scouting, in December, 1950, accomplishing the climb from the Tenderfoot rating in less than three years. He spent the summer at the Philmont Boy Scout ranch in New Mexico, representing the Minisink district.

The light of the full moon is only about half a millionth of that from the noonday sun.

Barrett Fund Budget Fixed For Agencies

At a meeting of the Barrett Welfare Fund a budget of $5,475 for this year was established last night.

With Andrew Lewis, president of the fund, presiding, the members decided on the following breakdown of the fund which serves as Barrett's Community Chest collection during the year.

Local agencies which will receive support from the Welfare Fund are:

Barrett playground — $2,000; Barrett Friendly Library—$500; Barrett Friendly Library book fund—$150; Barrett scholarship—$300; Barrett Neighborhood Association—$200; Barrett Girl Scouts—$50 and Boy Scouts—$25 for a total of $3,225 to local agencies.

The remaining $2,250 of the Welfare Fund goal will be allocated to the Monroe County Community Chest and Council for use of county agencies.

In addition to setting the budget, the members heard the report of the nominating committee from spokesman Mrs. George Huguenin who named the following officers to succeed themselves for second-year terms: President, Andrew Lewis; vice president, Harry J. Drennan and treasurer, Lewis R. Lewis.

The members heard a discussion of the hygiene and public health problems in the community with particular reference to water supply and sewage disposal.

Members of the fund committee work on record as approving the YMCA project of a youth center at Mountainhome.

Mrs. John Henry delivered the report of the Social Planning Committee in the absence of the chairman.

Is Treated At Hospital

Bruce Bird, 21, of 107 Penn St., East Stroudsburg, was treated in the dispensary of Monroe County General Hospital Tuesday for a laceration of his right finger. He suffered the injury while at work at International Boiler Co., East Stroudsburg.

Also treated in the dispensary was Elmer Possinger, 34, of 131 Lee Ave., Stroudsburg who suffered a laceration of the left forearm.

Glenn Sanborn Announces His Chest Workers

The selection of eight men to serve as assistants to Glenn Sanborn Jr., chairman of the Industrial Division of the 1952-53 Community Chest was announced yesterday by Mr. Sanborn.

Slated to serve as assistants in the industrial drive are William A. Reaser and James Smith, both of Worthington Mower; Albert J. Schaefer and Herbert Singer, both of Marsh's Foundry; Horace Walters and Charles E. Reinhart of Patterson-Kelley and Joseph S. Wallace and Lloyd Kresge of Monroe Silk Co.

Kickoff for the Industrial drive is this week.

The Community Chest campaign this year has been divided into three major sections.

First of these, concentrated on industries in the area, is now underway, with a similar drive dealing with trades and businesses also slated for this month and the first of October.

The final or "cleanup" drive, concentrating on residential areas, is slated to begin on or about Oct. 6.

Contracts with resorts and hotels in the area have been previously made by the Chest central office and will continue throughout the campaign.

Chest Group Makes Plans For Meeting

The Social Planning committee of the Monroe County Community Chest and Council met at the YMCA this week to make plans for the annual meeting of the Chest on Nov. 24.

With Mrs. Eugene Martin, chairman, presiding, the members heard a report from Mrs. Estelle Fleming that her committee has secured Mrs. Maria E. Shelmire, executive director of the Family Service of Delaware County, Media, Pa., as the principal speaker for that meeting.

Mrs. Martin appointed Mrs. C. R. Bensinger Sr., Oscar Liljenstein and Elton Hall from the social planning committee to serve on the nominating committee with other members to be appointed by the president and campaign chairman to select officers for the coming year.

Reports were given by John Dunkelberger and Miss Ethel West, secretary of the Chest.

Mrs. Martin then announced that Mrs. Claude Leister and Mrs. T. F. Rhodes will serve as co-chairmen of a special committee appointed to make a study of the documentation of community needs in family counselling.

Members present at the meeting were Mrs. Eugene Martin, John Dunkelberger, Rev. Norman R. Savage, Mrs. Estelle Fleming, Mrs. Morris Evans, and Mrs. Walter S. Caulfield, in addition to Miss West, secretary of the Chest organization.

Receives Gift

Grove City, Pa., (AP)—President Weir C. Ketter of Grove City College disclosed yesterday the institution has received a $100,000 contribution toward construction of the Henry Buhl Library.

Ketter said the contribution was made by Dr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Forrer of Orlando, Fla. Dr. Forrer served for 10 years as minister of Park Presbyterian Church in Erie and once attended the graduate school at Grove City.

Candidates Will Appear At Milford

Milford — Pennsylvania Republican leaders and candidates for public office will begin their spearhead drive through this area Monday, Sept. 29 at Stroudsburg — followed on Tuesday by a similar appearance in Pike County courthouse here.

J. Russell Eschbach, Pike County Republican leader and county commissioner, announced last night that the slate of candidates will appear at the county courthouse in Milford at 10 a. m. Tuesday for their second area appearance on behalf of the ticket.

Included on the speaking platform will be Sen. Edward Martin, who is up for reelection this year to the U. S. Senate; Charles Barbour, candidate for the office of Auditor-General; Weldon Heyburn, candidate for State treasurer and John Arnold, candidate for the Superior Court.

On hand to welcome the office-seekers will be a committee of Pike County Republican leaders and members of the finance committee.

Eschbach, who returned from a Harrisburg meeting yesterday, emphasized that "all Pike County residents are invited to attend the Tuesday morning meeting."

The Nixon Story

Sen. Richard Nixon's unprecedented radio-television pitch to the people of the United States Tuesday night asking them to let his party's leaders know whether he was right or wrong in accepting $18,000 in political expenses strikes us as anti-climatic.

Having endorsed no presidential or vice-presidential political candidate, our appraisal remains in that same category—a strictly non-political view.

We did not see or hear the Nixon presentation. It apparently had tremendous appeal to many people. The baring of his financial life story was a pattern familiar to any basically honest, average American and his family. Many people have gone and are going through the same thing.

Sen. Nixon's TV-Radio appearance has been described by Gen. Eisenhower and hosts of others as courageous. Nixon's assertion that he is not a "quitter" rung naturally, admiring comments from Americans—we are traditional haters of "quitters."

But, all this came from a man who is seeking the second highest office of the land with all of its great powers and emoluments.

How much better it would have been if Sen. Nixon had bared all this to his party leaders at the Chicago convention—before he was selected to go before the American people as the young crusader determined to clean up the "Washington mess."

We doubt if Sen. Nixon would have had to go on a nation-wide TV-Radio hopkirk to explain his private financial affairs to his fellow Americans—if he had told his party leaders the same things at Chicago.

Our belief is so firm about that, that we are still of the opinion Sen. Nixon should withdraw, or be asked to withdraw by his party leaders.

No Holiday for Death

As the ancient automobiles assembled here for the 1952 Glidden Tour revival rattled and banged their way to Harrisburg en route to Washington, many a spectator enjoyed a good chuckle at the amazing vehicles from the vanished past, and the amusing costumes of those earlier days worn by the participants in the parade of antique equipages.

This is as it should be, for while the present day Glidden Tour is being conducted in tribute to the fiftieth anniversary of the American Automobile Association, it is entertaining for the modern world of motorization to see what amazing machines were produced in the development of today's cars.

But there is nothing amusing about the tragic toll of deaths and injuries chronicled daily, as our world gives ample demonstration that drivers have not kept pace with the development of their machines. The AAA and its member clubs, including the Pocono Mountain Club with its membership, is constantly campaigning to reduce the accident record, but the fight is a long and discouraging one.

So while we laugh at the sight and sound of the earlier machines as they chug along in the Glidden Tour, let us remember that, proportionately, their records for safety were considerably better than those of today.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

The Nixon Situation

For several years, I have called attention to the inadequate salaries and allowances paid to our members of Congress. While the President's allowances have been lavishly increased, even to the extent of making part of his perquisites tax-exempt, members of the House of Representatives and the Senate find it difficult to make ends meet.

Many of them added to their income by listing their wives as secretaries, in one form or another. Some are members of law firms with the attendant embarrassment of questionable clients. Just as Harry Truman, when he was Senator, added his wife to his office payroll, so has Alben Barkley, as Vice President, increased his income by public lectures at high fees.

Our legislators face the problem that unless they possess inherited wealth or assets earned prior to becoming members of the Congress, their financial problems are, for many of them, a source of embarrassment. What is true of them is also true of some Cabinet officers. It is not a secret that such a man as James A. Farley left the Postmaster-Generalship heavily in debt.

Many members of Congress

find that when income taxes, the cost of being elected to office, the cost of keeping before the public, even if only locally, are added together, little is left for the maintenance of a residence in Washington as well as at home.

I have, over the years, known much about the private affairs of many members of Congress and I can say that some are doing a public service at the sacrifice of their families, while others have to find some extracurricular activities which they would rather not do.

The cost of being a national legislator is so prohibitive that many suitable men, whose talents ought to be available to the country, simply cannot afford to enter upon such a career. It is much sadder to become an assistant in a bureau or to a Cabinet officer stay a few years to make connections, and then join a law firm where such advantages will be rated satisfactory.

Richard Nixon has served his country well. His work in uncovering the Alger Hiss case is deserving of the public recognition which he has received. He has not attained seniority in the Senate to have much of a record in that body. That takes years as things go there.

His error has been in attempting to do differently what so many of his colleagues do. What he did was to ask a number of citizens of his state to set up a fund to circulate his speeches, to provide for radio time, to interest the voters on his behalf. He maintained a permanent campaign fund. It is unfortunate that he did not announce that he was doing precisely that. I receive speeches, printed by the Government, from a large number of Congressmen. Sometimes the notation appears, "not printed at Government expense." But no statement appears to say who pays the bill. Is it the N.A.M., the C.I.O., the A.F. of L.? Somebody must pay for the huge volume of printed matter that I and thousands of other citizens receive.

Perhaps from the Nixon experience, members of Congress will in the future set up organizations entitled, let us say, "Pro-Nixon," "Pro-Javits," "Pro-Douglas" or whoever it is, so that the assistance may be organized and regularized.

I know this: I cannot afford to run for the House of Representatives or the Senate unless I were to continue my present work. Having been deprived of a large part of my earnings by taxation for several years, I would have to beg to keep going, were I to go to Congress, or ask a company of friends to back me. I once calculated, not because of ambition but as an academic matter, that with my present fixed expenditures, including insurance and the education of my children, a term in Congress would make me bankrupt in about nine months.

Are we to have a Congress of millionaires? Are we to have a Congress of men of inherited wealth only? Are we to be limited to practicing lawyers? If we want a Congress of excellent men, let us pay them adequately and relieve them from taxation. Richard Nixon got some help—but he never sold his country nor has his wife accepted a mink coat as a gift for services rendered.

Try And Stop Me

In Paris, Taylor Caldwell, whose latest book is "The Devil's Advocate," went to a dentist and asked to have her teeth cleaned. The dentist asked, "Which ones?" It developed that French dentists charge by the tooth, and that since only the front teeth show, many frugal Parisians confine operations to that region. Miss Caldwell, no piker she, ordered the works.

In Tulsa, an oil magnate, enamored of his secretary but appalled by her ignorance of literature, strove mightily to improve her IQ. One morning she told him, "I took your advice. I read a book last night." "Great!" enthused the magnate. "What was its title?" "The secretary answered, 'Dun and Bradstreet's.'"

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington — It is apparent today why Secretary of State

Dean Acheson and President Truman did not hesitate in sending American forces into the Korean war in 1950.

The fight in Korea is covering up a sordid State department scandal unequalled in the history of that funny department. Homosexuality, thievery, drunkenness, stupidity and pro-Communism were substituted for money, machinery and moral support for the South Koreans.

I have an unimpeachable witness to the degrading behavior of State department aides in South Korea who can and should be held responsible for the war that is costing America an average of 500 casualties each week.

"The Korea Story," written by John C. Caldwell and published by the Henry Regency Co., is a shocking indictment of ignorance and depravity on the part of those assigned by the government to strengthen South Korea against the inevitable assault from the Communist North.

Caldwell was employed by the State department for many years. He was born in China of a four-generation missionary family. He witnessed the failure of the 2,000 man American mission in Korea, the largest ever assigned by the State department to an American embassy.

Here, according to Caldwell's book, are some samples of what Acheson sent to Korea:

"One official had been implicated in construction graft. Another was suspected of bringing liquor through the Korea customs for the sake of a business cronie. A few others were tarred with the brush of black marketing, smuggling and the sale of U. S. government equipment. One difficult case was that of a man who was completely illiterate yet who was receiving a $5,000 salary in a position of importance, a man still in the foreign service and recently recommended for a new $8,000 post."

Alcoholic week-ends were standard procedure for many American officials. It even got so bad Acheson heard about it and ordered an investigation. A foreign service inspector was dispatched to Korea. He spent several months in Seoul and was duly entertained. Eye-witness Caldwell says:

"On one memorable occasion he passed out in the ambassador's parlor. But he reported to Washington that he saw no evidence of excessive drinking."

From early 1948 on, the State department backed President Truman for control of Korea in place of the army. In 1949 it succeeded in taking over control and ousting most of the American troops there. The South Koreans were led by State department aides, who prattled about the superior strength and equipment of the South Korean army. They even warned the South Koreans against attacking the Communists in the north.

With its 2,000 people the State department bombarded the South Koreans with fanciful tales of how much American equipment had been supplied as military aid. Caldwell says:

"The real sinews of war were not delivered, but in our publicity we implied that it had been. In some cases, only one or two pieces of a particular item were delivered, but the item was listed as if delivered in bulk and useful quantity. Our answer to the Koreans was a lie, a bare-faced lie which found its way out a year later, in June of 1950."

The State department also lied to the U. S. by asserting that South Koreans were anxious for our troops to depart. Here are the facts as Caldwell saw them:

"South Korea was seething with huge parades and demonstrations urging our troops to stay until the South Korean army was strong enough to defend the country. The demonstrations produced certain reactions in our embassy. Ambassador John Muccio sent a note to the Korean foreign office protesting that the parades were blocking traffic in front of the embassy building."

In June of 1950 John Foster Dulles visited Korea on Acheson's behalf and announced his satisfaction over the manner in which the State department was handling the situation. But the 2,000 State department employees in Korea had other things on their mind.

"In the newspapers and drawing-rooms of Seoul, another piece of news received almost as much attention as the more significant story of Mr. Dulles' coming and going. The story had broken of a high-ranking U. S. Embassy official who had it seems, been supporting the number one Communist spy in South Korea. He had even supplied her with short-wave radio equipment, with which she had been able for months to send messages north. An American couple had expressed willingness to adopt the little towheaded consequence, but we learned later that the North Korean Communists had interrupted that arrangement."

Memoirs to the Editors

I was among the first to recommend Eisenhower for the Presidency—over the air in the Spring of 1948. . . . It was suggested that listeners send me a postal card with "the name of the American You Would Like to See President" . . . Ike romped away with that poll. . . . Practically no runner-ups. . . . I still favor him. . . . Because of his absolute integrity. . . . For that very reason I think Nixon should get off the Ticket. . . . The revelations about fund-raisers couldn't have stunned me more than if I were by one of Democratic Boss Ed Flynn's Belgian paving bricks.

What the Senator's acceptance of such funds, (not reported on his tax returns) may lack in outright corruption, it certainly makes up for in incredible stupidity. . . . The nation, which completely trusts the heart of the General, shudders to think that ONLY that heartbeat may separate Nixon from the Presidency. . . . Nixon's explanation may or may not be sufficient for a U. S. Senator. It certainly is not enough for a possible future President of the United States. . . . It is an old axiom that Caesar's wife must be above suspicion. . . . The grim historical truth is that she was anything but. . . . By rough analogy (and mixed metaphors) the White House still is too newly decorated to be stained by more mud. . . . Nixon admits using that money. . . . Therefore, he is not free to tell them to Go To Hell.

The issue is clear. . . . F.D.R. liked Jimmy Walker, the former Mayor of New York. . . . But his affection for Walker did not stop F.D.R. from investigating Jimmy into resignation when Mr. Seabury produced the evidence. . . . Integrity is absolute. . . . To illustrate: The only difference between a bank-burglar and a shop-lifter is the size of the loot. . . . Nixon's donors explain the collection for him by declaring that in Nixon they found "a salesman for Free Enterprise and a fighter of Communism and Corruption." . . . They say they gathered that expense fund to keep him from being corrupted by political grafters and bargainers. . . . Does that mean that Union chief John L. Lewis (who contributed $500,000 to Roosevelt's election) is free to pay the "expenses" of the entire United States Senate?

It was as reprehensible for Sen. Nixon to use the $18,000 from 78 donors as it was for Republican Senator Joe McCarthy to receive $310,000 for "services" from the Luston Corp. . . . Now, because Senator Nixon's conduct is questioned, it does not excuse the Democrats from some much larger and more embarrassing queries. . . . The fact that they have avoided the issue (so far) is a marvel of political footwork. . . . The disaster of Richard Nixon illustrates an old prize-fighting axiom: That the best of the amateurs hasn't a ghost of a chance against a professional. . . . The professional Democrats are out-clasping the Republican amateurs. . . . I mean this: The Democrats' former U. S. Attorney-General (McGrath) still refuses to disclose his assets. . . . A Democratic Congressman got a $5 million loan for a corporation with only $5000 in the bank. . . . The late Bob Hannegan, their National Chairman (and Postmaster-General), is reliably reported to have left

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

"Any similarity to any person, living or dead, is purely coincidental."

You have all seen this alibi on television or heard it on your radio.

It is used whenever there is danger of a libel suit or if the producer of the show wants to avoid getting himself punched in the nose.

So, before I get to my column, I want to say here and now, that any similarity to any person, living or dead, is purely coincidental.

It is about one of those conversations between a couple of women I "accidentally" overheard.

The two were discussing the manager of a store who recently got himself fired.

It seems that this particular fellow—a married man with several kids—got himself involved with a female clerk in the same store (a married woman, also).

A huge unexplained fortune.

A Democratic Supreme Court Justice and former U. S. Attorney-General (Tom Clark) is alleged (in sworn testimony of his assistant) to have intervened to halt prosecution of an important OPS case. . . . That makes Three Truman cabinet members involved in public scandals. . . . Harding had only Two.

with several kids) and the woman's husband gave the manager a black eye.

The owner of the store, being a very moral sort of a man, gave his manager two weeks' pay and told him to get out.

Those are the facts. Now to the gossip of the two women.

"Yes, and they say that he also was an incurable flirt and several times tried to date up the customers," said one of them.

"Not only that," interjected the other, "I hear that some of the women complained to their husbands and that the husbands called up the owner and reported the fellow."

Then one of the women said she really did not believe all that people said about this man.

"I personally haven't the slightest reason to complain," she closed her observation. "He never once said anything the least bit out of the way to me."

The other one agreed heartily.

"As far as I am concerned, I might just as well have been another man. He was always very respectful to me."

I looked at the two women. A song, popular some time ago, came to my mind:

"With my eyes wide open, I'm dreaming," it went.

One of the two women was in her early fifties. The other one must have been edging sixty.

The clerk with whom the manager had got involved was about 23 or 24—a pretty little hussy if there ever was one.

If my morals weren't so absolutely beyond reproach ("Ha," my wife would now exclaim), I could have gone for her myself.

I think the world of women. I think women are absolutely necessary.

But why on earth can't women ever realize that there is such a thing as youth and such a thing as age?

Why must they—almost until the wheelchair beckons them—think that they are irresistible?

There is only one other sex of which I know, that is worse in that respect.

Guess which.

Hollywood—Greer Garson, the refined Irish redhead, has gone all-out for American ranch life—and pardon, there was just no stopping her from palavering about it the other day.

Greer was back at M-G-M for her first movie in 15 months, "My Mother and Mr. Chesney," "I love getting back to work," she said. Then, in almost the next breath: "I should be handing out cigars. Two of our all-white Scottish shorthorn cows just had calves."

This plural blessed event occurred on Forked Lightning Ranch at Pocono, N. M., where Greer dwells between pictures with her wealthy oilman husband, E. E. "Buddy" Fogelson. Seventeen thousand acres, at 7,300 feet, on the Pueblo Indian state where the explorer Coronado quartered livestock in 1541.

Greer herself imported the Scottish shorthorns. "The oldest improved breed of cattle," seven heifers and a bull. The herd now numbers 21. "We're quite a feature at state fairs in the Southwest," Miss Garson declared. After three years of ranch life, something that was brand-new to her, she said: "I love it for half the time. But everybody born under the sign of Libra strives for a balanced life. I'm lucky to be able to balance ranch life with city life."

"On the negative side," she mused, "this Libra quality can lead to indecision." She and her

The shut-ins, the soldiers in many camps and hospitals and the general public are taking the low punch and the eye - thumbing in the heavy-weight fight game as a result of the current refusal of promoters, out for the last time, to permit broadcasting. Radio broadcasting gave the fight game a terrific build-up in the American home, and gave it an air of respectability it had previously lacked in the public mind. And now—whammo! — greedy promoters slam the public against the ropes, give it the old one-two punch and say, "Nuthin' doin' on the radio, Mr. and Mrs. Calabash, wherever you are. If you wanna see or hear the big fight and can't get to the park you gotta pay musical comedy prices at some theater." Money is money and business is business, but the fight promoters of America may ultimately find out that they are kayaking the goose that made the golden mitt. ("He's down! He's up! He's bleeding again!")

Folks in the faraway places, who by no stretch of the imagination could be considered prospective cash customers, are pretty sore over the closing of radio to them in the Walcott-Marciano heavyweight championship fight. husband were at their Stone Canyon home near Hollywood when the recent Southern California earthquake hit. He relates that when he started for the outdoors, Greer headed for her closet and stood there, trying to pick something to wear. In decision.

Full of ranch and astrological lore by now, I asked what I'd originally had in mind: What would she like to play on the screen?

Greer said she likes her present role for its homespun quality. "It's a small story you could write on the head of a pin."

Her next will be hardly more than a bit as the wife Calpurnia in "Julius Caesar"—"a woman tremendously concerned about her husband."

Just as a switch wouldn't the ladylike Garson like to play a real wicked dame? "I'd love to," she said. "But Helen Hayes told me, 'You can't. It would be like Santa Claus taking off his hat.'"

Attorneys Say Clients Made It Impossible In Track Case To Comply With Court Rules

Allentown, Pa. (AP)—Two Allentown attorneys have petitioned the State Supreme Court for permission to withdraw as counsel for the West End Race Track at Gilbert, Monroe County, Pa. The track was closed when Judge Fred W. Davis, of Monroe County Court, handed down an injunction against its operation last July 15.

The attorneys, Paul A. McGinley and William N. Kanehan Jr., were acting on behalf of Carolina and Joseph Riboldi, Pleasant Valley Inc., and the West End Auto Racing Association, on an appeal of the injunction. The petitioned the Supreme Court for withdrawal permission Sept. 16, and action is expected Oct. 6 when the appeal is listed for argument before the tribunal.

McGinley said yesterday that the action to withdraw was taken because his clients "made it impossible to comply with court rules." He explained further: "They failed to cooperate and have briefs and testimony printed. Under court rules the printed matter must be in the hands of the court and the opposing side at least 15 days before the date of argument."

The race track case is an outgrowth of a protest against holding stock car races on the track at Gilbert.

The injunction was obtained by the Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, which is adjacent to the race track; the Gilbert Cemetery Association and a number of church members and residents of the area.

Doe Licenses Now Available At Treasurer's

P. A. Rockefeller, Monroe County treasurer, announced yesterday that doe licenses for the 1952 hunting season had arrived at his office and were now available.

The only requirement is, he said, that the applicants for the special licenses must be in possession of a regular hunting license. The letter and number of the regular license must be placed on the doe license application blank, he added.

The regular hunting licenses may be obtained at the county treasurer's office and other designated places in the county, it was pointed out. However, the doe licenses can only be obtained at the county treasurer's offices. Those for Monroe County applicants must go to the county treasurer's office at Milford.

The regular license fee is $3.15 and that for the doe licenses are $1.15.

He is so intent on getting the ball and running it back into the "play" that he is unaware that he may be running into an accident. Boys are like that!

The right guard for you—as a driver—to avoid such accidents is to be on "double guard" when you are driving your car on streets or roads where children are at play in the vicinity.

It is an unfortunate truth that children often forget all the rules of traffic safety when they are engrossed in a game. They will dart out into the street. They do not stop to see if a car is coming. That puts the entire burden of caution squarely on the driver. To avoid hurting or killing a child—drive slowly... drive alertly... near schools, play areas, residential districts. Be certain that you can stop in time should an emergency occur. It may be the child's fault—but you will never stop blaming yourself if you hurt a child.

Is your child's school enrolled in the Green Pennant Program—the safety program that is saving lives? If not, write to the Governor's Highway Safety Advisory Committee in Harrisburg for information about this effective safety effort.

Drennan Proposes Local Committees Make Studies Of Assessment Problems

Harry Drennan, president of the Barrett Township school board, discussed revaluation and advocated equalization of taxation at the meeting of the Kiwanis club of Stroudsburg at the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday afternoon. Eric Schuchard, program chairman, presented the speaker.

Mr. Drennan explained the effect of legislation governing assessments in the state and detailed basis on which it was set in the various districts.

The speaker advocated 33 and one-third per cent assessment on true values of property and showed it would prove beneficial generally. The state average he said was 39.1 per cent. He said if committees were named in each district to study the question he believed it would prove generally beneficial. The county commissioners and county assessor, he said, are cooperating.

The committee should be made up of a member of the school board, supervisor, large and small property owner and if possible a real estate man, he said. Some time would be required to go over the matter, but he believed it would pay off. Instances of unfair assessments were quoted.

President Gilbert L. Smrz named the nominating committee to present a slate for officers for the coming year as follows: H. L. Keiper, chairman; A. W. Williams, George T. Robinson and Herbert B. Crane, past presidents, and Detlef A. Hansen.

The birthdays of 21 members which fell in the last quarter were honored at a special table which was uniquely decorated by Mr. Schuchard, birthday committee chairman. This specially decorated birthday cake was sent to the Monroe County General Hospital for distribution among the patients.

J. Albert Groner was introduced. He urged support of the Community Chest campaign.

Dr. T. I. Metzgar, bowling chairman, informed the club that the Service Club league will get underway on the Elks alleys Tuesday night of next week. Kiwanis members bowl at 9 p.m.

Walter R. McClelland announced observance of National Kids Day Saturday of this week in which high school students will participate in essay and slogan competition for which the Kiwanis club will distribute cash prizes.

Dr. Earl Willhoite led the song period with Numa Snyder at the piano.

Guests welcomed by President Smrz included Charles Feltham, Verona, N.J.; L. H. Parent, Milwaukee, Wis., and Edward Herdmann.

President Smrz and Vice President Parke W. Kunkle attended the sessions of the Pennsylvania District, Kiwanis International, at Scranton this week. The conference came to a close yesterday noon.

The Girl Scouts of the Gap are recalling that tentative plans were made to take their photograph this month for the Scout Girl's calendar. Mrs. Sonia James, who has charge of the calendar, hoped to get a snow scene last winter but the day scheduled was too dark and rainy. The girls were cheered in their disappointment by thought of an autumn picture.

A. J. Peck was in the village on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Peck own a home, Eagles Cliff, in Poplar Valley where they live five and a half months a year. The remainder of the time in spent in their home at Miami Shores, Florida. Mr. Peck is a well known golfer. He was president of Alpece Realty Corporation and treasurer of Prospect Terminal Corporation in New York City until he retired in 1950. The Alpece Corporation had charge of men loading and unloading ocean-going freight ships.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kitchen have closed their milk bar during week days and will open only on weekends.

MAKING A QUICK GETAWAY

"NOW YOU SEE IT, now you don't," is a remark that applies to jet airplanes, as well as to nimble-fingered magicians. The following two high-speed pictures show jet interceptors taking off from a British air strip near London (top) and from a simulated aircraft carrier deck near Inyokern, Calif. (bottom). The photos also indicate the two ways of getting jets into the air. The two U. S. Air Force Sabres get away under their own power while lone U. S. Navy Fury flashes by after being released from a catapult, or large slingshot.

Rector Given Farewell By Parishioners

Mount Pocono—The Rev. John Ferguson of the Pocono Catholic parishes was guest at a farewell testimonial in St. Mary's Church here recently. Father Ferguson has been assigned to St. John's Church, Wilkes-Barre.

Remarks were made by Monsignor C. A. McHugh, Rev. Vincent Hartry and Rev. J. A. Edmund. Special guests were Father Ferguson's mother and sister, both of Scranton.

Gifts to Father Ferguson included a large decorated cake by the Boy's Orphanage, Scranton; and a purse from members of Our Lady of Victory Altar and Rosary Society and parishioners, presented by Mrs. Francis Mooney. Similar gifts came from parishes in Mount Pocono, St. Agnes Church, Canadensis and Our Lady of Fatima, Promised Land.

Rev. F. Galligan of St. Matthew's Church, East Stroudsburg, will serve as pastor of the Tannersville parish.

Tannersville parishioners who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stadden, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Logan, Mrs. Caroline Vinyard, Mrs. Philip Hyland and daughter, Gertrude, Mrs. A. Hildt, Joan Riley, Mr. and Mrs. William Vance, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schneider, Mrs. Mooney and Mrs. M. Morrow, of Philadelphia.

It is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a special puzzle designed to assist you in your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 5. The result is your number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Mrs. Hohenschildt Visiting Here

Mrs. Emma Hohenschildt, of Miami, Fla., has been spending a vacation with her children in the North. She visited New York City and Niagara Falls with her oldest son, of Fort Plain, N.Y. On their return he brought her to Stroudsburg and remained to visit his sister, Mrs. Theodore Coffman, and have dinner with another sister, Mrs. Stanley Cramer. Mrs. Hohenschildt plans to re-

Miss McCole Is Married To Brooklyn Man

Miss Josephine McCole of Stroudsburg RD2 became the bride of Frank Riccobono, of Brooklyn, N. Y., on Saturday, at St. Matthew's Catholic Church in East Stroudsburg. Rev. Harold G. Durkin performed the ceremony.

A reception for 125 guests followed at the Club Fernwood, Bushkill. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Edward McCole, with her sister, Miss Rose McCole, as maid of honor. Mrs. L. Colurto, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss M. Renelli were bridesmaids and the niece of the bridegroom was the flower girl.

Joseph Riccobono, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man with Louis Calcuto and Thomas Palumbo as ushers.

Following a honeymoon in Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Riccobono will make their home in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Wesleyan Guild Membership Drive Planned

Wesleyan Service Guild of the Stroudsburg Methodist church at their meeting Tuesday night at the church planned to have a guest speaker at the October meeting, Miss Helen Holsted of Philadelphia, north district secretary of the Wesleyan Guild.

Before that time they expect to hold a membership drive to have as many members as possible at the meeting. Mrs. Philip Lee presided at the meeting and Mrs. William Gorton was in charge of the opening devotions.

After the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Floyd Kellogg and Mrs. Lee to Mrs. William Gorton, Mrs. Philip Lee, Mrs. Parker Rida, Mrs. William Savitz, Miss Eudora Keiper, Mrs. Roger Stinson and Mrs. George Sebring Jr.

Lodge Memorial

Tannersville—Members of the Elsie Longacre Rebekah lodge have been asked to meet in a group on Friday night at Lanterman's Funeral Home to hold memorial services for the late Mrs. Adam Bonser of Pocono Lake.

In addition to delegates previously announced, Miss Helen Shick, president-elect of the local guild, also attended.

Uncluttered Fashions Of Today Shine

The Junior Woman's Club of Stroudsburg last night scored another success with their annual Fall Fashion Show, presented this year for the benefit of the Salvation Army, and given at the auditorium of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

The theme "Fashions in This Changing World" was presented through contrasting fashions of 50 years ago with those of 1952, and opened with a living room conversation between Mrs. Joseph Yutz as a grandmother and Mrs. John Sibley as the grand-daughter comparing fashions through the years, fashions which were later revealed through the opening of the huge fashion book in center stage.

Through the book came all the models, with each change of type of clothing preceded by old-fashioned models, worn by Mrs. H. L. Keiper Jr. and Mrs. Arthur J. O'Neil. Night-caps and middies and bloomers, leg of mutton sleeves and dangling fringe, flapper era evening dresses and high button shoes delighted the audience.

The contrast with modern uncluttered look and clean lines was pointed up by Mrs. Frank L. Patterson Jr., who served as commentator, and the themes were emphasized by the organ background presented by Bernie Whitman.

Clothes shown ranged from early morning housecoats and dormitory ensembles to formal evening wear, and were featured by fourteen local stores. During the intermission, Mrs. Richard Fredenberg, Junior Woman's Club president, thanked the large committee of club members, headed by Mrs. Warren Mikels and Mrs. Alex Bensinger, who worked all summer to prepare the show, as well as others who took part in its success.

She announced that the proceeds would be toward replacing the Salvation Army's station wagon destroyed by fire this summer. Shops showing clothes included Montgomery Ward, J. C. Penney, Smith Fashion Apparel, Helen Teeter's Yarn Shop, The Woman's Shop, A. B. Wyckoff, Zacher's, Alouisy's Furs, Lena Beers, Bon Ton, Francis Burrows, Jew's, Laurel Queen Shop, and Swanee's Clothes-Line.

Fashion highlights included the use of unusual fabrics including heavy tweeds and printed corduroy; the predominance of brilliant colors such as purple and red; or contrasting neutral shades.

Cinch belts, buxessive emblems, steel or brilliant buttons were among the most popular details.

The models, whose names were previously printed, were able to show the styles to full advantage through the built-out run-way and brilliant spot-lighting.

Ushers were Sandra Kresge, Nancy Westbrook, Laurean Flagg, Marylin Groner, Patricia Hoffer and Marilyn Welsh.

Zion Reformed Churchwomen At Synodical

A group of eight women representing the Zion Ev. and Reformed Church of Stroudsburg yesterday attended the sixth biennial meeting of the district synodical held in Stone Church.

New officers were elected including Mrs. C. L. Brachman, of Bethlehem, president; Mrs. George Sampson, Bangor, first vice president; Mrs. Helen Shafer, Bethlehem, secretary; and Mrs. Vernon Hester, of Stone Church, treasurer.

Mrs. Melvin Dunn, chairman of thank-offering, reported at the morning business session.

Speakers included the president of the Synod, Rev. Frank W. Teske, Rev. Reagle, and Rev. G. H. Gehart, associate secretary of the Board of International Missions. Miss Helen Kenyon, former moderator of the Congregational Christian Church, spoke after dinner.

In addition to delegates previously announced, Miss Helen Shick, president-elect of the local guild, also attended.

Fred Rake Marks 80th Birthday

Fred Rake celebrated his 80th birthday at Manhart's restaurant, Newfoundland, on September 22, with his children. A dinner was climaxed by a birthday cake, and he received many gifts. Guests included Fred Rake, and Mr. and Mrs. Welland, of Mountainhome; Mr. and Mrs. Harman Rake, of South Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Rake, Mountainhome; Elvin Rake, South Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Morton Manhart, Newfoundland; Blanche, Joan, Billy and Linda Manhart, Mrs. Henry Ziednicki and Diane, Greentown.

Those unable to attend included Mr. and Mrs. Henry Storm, Stroudsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Julian Rake, Mountainhome; Mrs. Elvin Rake, South Sterling and Mrs. Lewis Sterner, of Arizona.

Pocono Grange Election On Saturday

Tannersville—There will be a meeting of Pocono Grange 1415 on Friday evening, Sept. 26. Election of officers will be held at this meeting and plans completed for Booster Night which is to be held Oct. 10. Everyone wishing to attend will be welcomed at this Booster Night meeting.

The penny supper sponsored by Pocono Grange 1415 on Saturday night, September 20, was not only a financial success, but the home cooked food was the subject of complimentary comments.

Proceeds are to be applied to the new roof fund. The fancy work table also proved a success. Flowers for the tables were donated by VanSeiver and Mrs. Milton Singer.

Bridal Shower Is Held For Mrs. McDonald

Mrs. Charles McDonald, the former Mary Alice Jones, was the guest of honor at a surprise bridal shower given by her aunt, Mrs. Dawson Seese. The guest of honor was seated on a chair under a parasol decorated with crepe paper to receive her gifts.

The dining table was decorated with asters and candles, with miniature parasols as favors at each place. A buffet supper was served.

She received many gifts from the guests: Mrs. Otto LaBar, Mrs. Howard Sarley, Mrs. Richard Gilliland, Mrs. Conrad Terboss, Mrs. Fred Notz, Mrs. Edward Wagner, Mrs. Fred Hoffman, Mrs. Clarence Frederick, Mrs. Mary Clifton, Mrs. Ben Brodt, Mrs. Charles Jagger, Mrs. Travis Seese, Mrs. Walter LaBar, Mrs. Donald Miller and daughter Jeanne, Mrs. McDonald's mother, Mrs. David Jones and Tommy and Terry Seese.

Sending gifts but unable to attend were: Mrs. Harry Clifton, Mrs. Robert Decker, Mrs. Richard Shutter and Mrs. Clair Hartzell.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Well, the Junior's did it again. They put on a bang-up fashion show, with plenty of humor to lighten this serious business of deciding what to buy for Winter.

Certainly have to take your hat off to whoever rounded up those old-fashioned clothes. They had everything. My favorite was the bloomers and middies. I think, complete to the bicycle built for two, which must have been somewhat hard to locate these days.

It went off smooth as silk too, and nobody seeing the unhurried entrance could have guessed at the wild confusion below as the models skinned out of one outfit and into another, or the months of hard work on the part of the committee which had preceded the show.

Not that they regret it, and they did have a lot of fun along the way — but the biggest thrill will come when they see that Salvation Army station wagon again on the road with its load of happy, racking children.

And they can be mighty proud of the styles in our stores, and of the professional job done by their models.

However, I'll have to confess, I still have to see that Hat!

Henry Wells To Study For Ministry; Given New Bible

Cherry Valley—Henry Wells, who is planning to enter Locoming Seminary to study for the ministry, was honored by the congregation of the Cherry Valley charge following the prayer meeting on Wednesday night. Coming as a complete surprise, the congregation presented Mr. Wells with a gift certificate entitling him to the new revised edition of the Bible as soon as it comes from the presses.

Mr. Wells has entered fully into the activities of the churches of the charge, often accompanying the Rev. C. Clyde Levergood on his rounds.

After the meeting, while refreshments were being enjoyed, Mr. Wells, who during his high school days appeared on the radio as the "Sciota Reporter," entertained the group with humorous monologues.

The meeting was held at the St. Luke's Church. Rev. Kenneth Heckman, pastor of the Raubsville Methodist charge, spoke during the prayer meeting. Elaine Rice, who is also studying for the ministry, was introduced by Mr. Levergood, who also presented the gift to Mr. Wells.

The following persons were present: Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Levergood, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Schobert, Mrs. Harold Dennis, Mrs. Laura Brewer, Russell Adams, Mrs. Paul Albert, Mrs. Ora N. Lesh, Miss Evelyn B. Wells, Henry Wells, Elaine Rice, Kenneth Heckman, Mrs. Andrew Keiser, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Poorstra.

Laurel Court Marks Royal Visit Here

Laurel Court, Order of Amaranth, entertained at a dinner party at the Penn-Stroud on Tuesday night in honor of the Grand Royal Matron of the State of Pennsylvania, and other grand officers. In addition to those pictured above, guests included Ida Dickerson, grand marshal in the West; Ethel Smith, royal matron, and Margaret Koch, royal patron, of Easton; Hazel Tyler, royal matron of Allentown, and other out of town guests.

Ruth Kripe and her committee had arranged the dinner and an unusual flower arrangement.

Following the dinner, the regular meeting of Laurel Court was held at the Odd Fellows Hall. In a flower ceremony in the form of a rainbow ending in a pot of gold the officers of Laurel Court presented the grand royal matron who, in turn, received the pot of gold from Mrs. Tretheway.

Refreshments were served in the dining hall by the members from the hill section with Mrs. Alvertia Dennis and Mrs. Freida Garis as chairmen.

Final event of the royal visit was a breakfast given yesterday morning in honor of Mrs. Beeher, Mrs. Little, Mrs. Tretheway

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

"Fashions for the Family—Down to Dusk"—that's what we're calling it, and for a while our hopes were high that when Wyckoff styles take the spotlight next Monday night at Bangor, there would be at least one man looking his dashing best in a Worsted-Tex suit, a Clippercraft topcoat, and a Champ featherweight hat. After all, what is home without a father?

The members of the fashion show committee assured us there'd be no worry on this point. As a matter of fact, two men had already suggested that husbands be represented. This seemed too wonderful to be true. It was.

Tonight the Junior Women of Bangor and their friends will be entertained at the store for fittings. But the head of the house will be "The Little Man Who Wants There." As the letter explains it, "We're all looking forward to our visit but there won't be any husbands. The men thought it a wonderful idea . . . but for other men only."

So Dad has been reduced from a principal to a prop. He will be a pipe on the table, a folded newspaper, and a pair of slippers in an easy chair . . . typical Pop "corn," setting the mood for a non-existent Pop to pop in.

Should have known that Carrie Rusk wasn't planning a social evening for me when she so sweetly insisted that I accompany her to the Junior Woman's Club fashion show. It seems there was the little matter of dressing three models three times. When will I learn! . . . For the women who are happily "infatigating" at the moment, there's good news in the arrival of maternity dresses in our main floor lingerie department. In lovely shades created for flattery, these sell at $3.98, sizes 12 to 20 . . . Happy birthday today to William Wells. Around Wyckoff's one observes, it's just as well if birthday days are in the dark 'till they're over. . . . There's something wonderfully exciting about our gift department with its merchandise from foreign lands. Particularly exotic at the moment are those novelties from China—including letter openers, dinner bells, silent butlers, and pill boxes of brass and enamel, to say nothing of the adorable brass teapots with gems set in the side. Come to think of it, those embroidered satin scarfs are pretty nice too! I wonder if there'd be any part in the world where I wouldn't develop collector's itch? After a trip through our center aisle, it seems doubtful.

Claude H. Heckman Offers Newest G-M Heating Units

According to Claude H. Heckman of Canadensis, although most types of heating systems have undergone various refinements in the last few years, oil seems to remain the most popular type of heat. Far up other heat is cleaner or more trouble free than oil heat. No ashes to haul, no unpleasant fumes or dirt are caused by heating with oil.

General Motors, producers of Delco-Heat Products, find their Mod-I-Delco Boiler, an oil-fired unit, to be among the most popular products in their line. This model is designed to operate with steam, hot water, or vapor vacuum systems and at the same time provide an abundance of hot water for household use. All the vast research and engineering resources were utilized with one thing in view: to enable you to heat your home automatically, dependably, and economically.

Such great engineering advances as the Thin-mix fuel control, the built-in oil conditioner, and exclusive Rotapower unit are combined to give you this economical, dependable heat. Mr. Heckman has been factory trained in the care, maintenance, and proper operation of Delco-Heat Products and, as with all Delco-Heat Dealers, was appointed because of his experience, integrity, and specialized knowledge.

Mr. Heckman's 27 years of experience in Barrett Township and surrounding area speaks for itself. In this span of time, he has selected and rejected many products until today he feels he is handling the finest products available in this country. Besides the Delco-Heat Products and Delco Water Pumps of all types, he also handles Motorstokor coal-fired heating systems. Many other top quality names are evident in bath fixtures, plumbing fixtures, and other allied lines.

In doing business with Claude H. Heckman, one may indeed buy with confidence for those top names plus fine workmanship certainly

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Saturdays roll into view more rapidly than usual now that football season is upon us. Both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools return to action, each of them seeking to prolong their winning habits. East Stroudsburg State Teachers College on the other hand will be launching the 1952 campaign and hopeful of bringing home the bacon from Millersville State Teachers College.

Although the Mountaineers are ripe for an upset after winning over Bangor for the first time in 10 years, the charges of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis should be able to take the measure of Emmaus, a club that has won its only start to date, by something like 19-7. East Stroudsburg, playing host to a reportedly strong Pen Argyl contingent, will have its work cut out, but a flip of the coin says the Cavaliers will come up with a victory, by something like a 13-7 margin.

East Stroudsburg State Teachers and Millersville both are starting from scratch at Millersville and this scribe sees the Warriors as winning by 19-6, on strictly a guess. Catawissa demonstrated enough power in its opening game last week to force this column to pick the Rough Riders over Bangor, in a real thriller, 13-7.

On the national collegiate front it looks as if Army will open with a victory over South Carolina, while Boston College topples Richmond and Syracuse takes the measure of Boston University. It appears as if Bucknell has enough remaining to dump Lafayette, while Cornell nips Colgate and Princeton takes the measure of Columbia. A flip of the coin gives us Holy Cross over Dartmouth, while Harvard downs Springfield and Navy tramples Yale. Lehigh should edge New York University, with Notre Dame smashing Penn and Penn State just getting by Purdue, while Pittsburgh takes the measure of Iowa.

Rutgers appears too strong for Muhlenberg, while Temple crushes Albright and Villanova nips Clemson. Detroit rates the nod over Wichita with Drake upending Dayton and Illinois taking the measure of Iowa State. Ohio State appears too strong for Indiana, while Kansas nips Santa Clara and Cincinnati wins over Kansas State. Wisconsin will trounce Marquette and Michigan State will nip Michigan, while Washington downs Minnesota and California gives Missouri the same dose of medicine. Nebraska will defeat Oregon and Southern California appears too strong for Northwestern.

Oklahoma will roll over Colorado, while Texas A. and M. nips Oklahoma A. and M. and Tulsa topples Hardin Simmons. Alabama appears too strong for Louisiana State and Maryland will run wild over Auburn, while The Citadel wins over VPI. Duke receives a timid wave of the wand over Southern Methodist, while Georgia Tech takes the measure of Florida and West Virginia will topple Mississippi and Miami will run up the score against VMI. Tennessee rates the nod over Mississippi State and Texas appears to be the winner over North Carolina, while Vanderbilt should decision Virginia and Wake Forest rates the nod over William and Mary.

Arkansas rates the nod over Houston, Rice appears to be a winner over Texas Tech, while UCLA downs Texas Christian and College of Pacific nips Utah State and Wyoming decisions Montana. New Mexico appears too strong for Brigham Young and Utah should decision Idaho, while San Jose State defeats San Diego State and Stanford dumps Washington State. There it is for another week, with hopes that the column's present record of 28 correct predictions and two of the wrong variety won't take too bad a beating.

Giants Shine At Plate In Double Victory Over Braves

New York (AP)—The dethroned New York Giants, still battling for second place in the National League, applied power yesterday as they took both ends of a doubleheader from the Boston Braves, 11-8 and 8-2.

A 17-hit attack off four Boston pitchers brought the Giants a come-from-behind victory in the first game. Trailing by 3-1, they pushed across five runs in the third to lead for the rest of the way.

Second Game
Alvin Dark and Bobby Thomson hit homers in this game, with Dark adding a double and three singles to make it a perfect game with five-for-five.

In the second game, three homers—by Bill Rigney and again by Dark and Thomson—highlighted a 10-hit Giant collection. It was Rigney's first of the year, the 13th for Dark and the 24th for Thomson.

Dave Koso went all the way for the Giants in the nightcap. An inside-the-park homer by shortstop Johnny Logan accounted for the only two runs off the veteran southpaw. It was Logan's second of the day.

First Game
Boston .300 290 300—8 11 3
New York .015 112 108—11 17 1

Browns Rally To Sink Tigers

Detroit (AP)—The Detroit Tigers blew a four-run first inning lead yesterday as they bowed to Tommy Byrne and the St. Louis Browns, 7-4, for their eighth straight setback.

The Tiger losing streak matched the string of eight losses at the start of the American League campaign.

Home Run
Russ Sullivan's two-run homer featured the Tigers' opening inning but the St. Louis club kept picking away at the Detroit lead and finally moved in front in the eighth inning.

Former Tiger Dick Kryhoski starred in that inning. He slammed a pinch-hit double to send in the tying and winning runs.
St. Louis .000 020 131—7 14 1
Detroit .400 000 000—4 10 3

Veterans To Dominate ESSTC Soccer Squad

Wilkes Listed As Opening Day Opponent

Coach Howard DeNike and his red and black clad booters from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College are looking forward to another successful soccer season, to follow up last year's record of four victories, one defeat and a single tie. The Warriors are now hard at work for the season's opener on Wednesday, October 8, with Wilkes College providing the opposition on the Normal Hill field.

ESSTC's first team is almost the same as that which opened each game last season, with three exceptions. Lost by graduation last May were Jay Hollinger, captain and inside right; Don Delp, goalie, and Murlin James, outside left.

However, DeNike is hopeful of plugging these holes to such a degree that his forces will turn in a good showing in the seven-game campaign.

Bill Schaeffer, reserve goalie on the 1951 squad, will probably be in the nets for the Warriors this year, but is receiving plenty of competition from Lyle Krall and John Sloan, the latter a transfer student and the former having been shifted from a halfback post to the goal, because of a knee injury.

Don Bachtel, Fred Gahrns and Bob Hartmann, all back from last year, are the top performers in the fullback posts, while Joe Maioriello and Enoch Hartland, both veterans of last year, headline the halfback posts, along with John Rhen and Lloyd Wescoe, newcomers from the freshman class.

Front Line
Hobart "Hobe" Hutchins, highly regarded performer of last year, and Jake Wenzel are battling for the outside right position, while Bob "Dutch" Klein appears to have the inside track on the inside right job. Tom Foley, East Stroudsburg's gift to the soccer world, and a returnee from last year, is holding down the center forward spot, but Craig Leatherman, an experienced freshman, is also in the running for the post.

Schollenberger is a veteran soccer player, who missed most of last season because of a broken leg.
Jack Tredinnick, a first string member of the East Stroudsburg High school basketball team last season, is also fighting for a soccer berth at ESSTC this year, as are Lee Hill, John Blair, Earl Pfeiffer, Jim Arnold, Ed Smith, Ted Evanish, Dick Ashner, Dick McDonough, Jim Edwards, Bob Durkin, Ed Houck, Jim Collier and Tony Black.

Indians Keep Faint Flag Hopes Alive

Cleveland (AP)—With Bob Lemon coolly pitching three-hit ball, the Indians tried desperately to stay in the American League pennant race yesterday by defeating the White Sox, 6-0.

Lemon, winning his 22nd victory, allowed only one hit in the first seven innings, and the pitcher, Lou Kretlow, got that one—a double in the third.

Two More
The Sox hit two more in the eighth. Pinch hitter "Hank" Edwards, a former Indian, and "Chico" Carresquel, each singled.

Lemon walked two men—Carresquel, the first batter, and Sherman Lollar, who drew a pass in the second. He fanned two—Jim Rivera at the opening of the fifth, and Kretlow at the opening of the sixth.

Bob Avila and Al Rosen swatted homers for Cleveland.

Phillies Trip Dodgers Behind Roberts, 9-7

Brooklyn (AP)—Robin Roberts, ace Philadelphia righthander, was hit hard yesterday but staggered to his 27th triumph as the Phillies won a 9-7 slugfest from the National League champions Brooklyn Dodgers, who played their second stringers most of the way.

In becoming the first National League pitcher to win 27 since "Bucky" Walters captured that mark off the Cincinnati Reds in 1939, Roberts gave up 11 hits and walked two batters.

Seventh Straight
It also was the seventh straight victory for Roberts and his sixth in a row over the Dodgers. However, with the pennant clinched, Manager Charlie Dressen started only two regulars, Andy Pafko and Billy Cox. The latter played only three innings.

Anxious to find a bullpen replacement that would enable him to start Joe Black in the World Series, Dressen took short looks at Clem Labine, Clyde King and Ralph Branca in addition to Ron Negray who is not eligible for the classic.

Labine started and gave up four runs on five hits and as many walks in the first three innings. Philadelphia .301 200 210—9 15 3

Walcott Decides To Return To Ring In Attempt To Regain Heavyweight Crown From Marciano

By Jack Hand
Philadelphia, (AP)—"Jersey Joe" Walcott, "unretired" from a 13-hour retirement yesterday to set up a return bout with "Rocky" Marciano, who knocked him off the heavyweight throne in Tuesday night's sensational bout.

Miami, Fla., or Chicago appeared to be the leading candidates for a January rematch of this bloody brawl, called by veteran boxing men the most exciting heavyweight scrap since the Jack Dempsey-Luis Firpo thriller in 1927.

The fighters already are signed to a return bout agreement calling for a second fight within 90 days and a 20-30 per cent split of the gate. However, the 90-day clause undoubtedly will be waived.

No Quibble
"We're ready to fulfill our contract with Walcott," said Al Weill, Marciano's manager. "But Rocky wants a rest. I think Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager and Jim Norris president of the International Boxing Club will waive the 90 days. We won't fight until after January. "If he (Walcott) wants a return match, he's got it."

Bocchicchio, who revealed that

Walcott had changed his mind at a Camden, N.J., news conference, said he wouldn't quibble about the 90 days.

With the television cable to Miami becoming a two-day proposition before too long, Miami would seem to have a real good chance at the show.

Bocchicchio planned to contact Norris, who had returned to New York, and set up a conference on date and site in a few days.

On the matter of site, Bocchicchio pointed out, "our contract says we can fight only where both fighters and their managers are licensed."

Because Bocchicchio had no New York license, Tuesday night's fight came to Philadelphia's municipal Stadium where it drew 40,379 fans and $304,645.

Tuesday night Bocchicchio retired Walcott in his dressing room and Walcott reluctantly agreed. After thinking it over and listening to Walcott's pleading, Bocchicchio changed his mind.

"I have suggested that 'Jersey Joe' Walcott retire from boxing solely because of my personal admiration for him," he said in a statement released to the press.

"It is my honest desire not to see him get hurt. However, Joe feels differently. He has expressed the desire to have an opportunity to crack tradition and the old precedent that a champion never regains his title. Joe feels he can do it and is anxiously awaiting the opportunity to recapture the crown."

Walcott also had a statement. But he was not present. The 38-year-old ex-champ was resting at a friend's home in South Jersey. Eight stitches were taken in a cut over his left eye.

Jersey Joe's statement read like this:

"I have always been guided by my manager's judgment and there is no doubt that his advice has brought the championship to Camden. While I have the same admiration for him, I know in my heart that I can make boxing history by recapturing the championship. Therefore I have convinced my manager to take a return contest."

All three officials, most of the newspaper men and both managers and fighters thought Walcott was ahead at the end of 12 rounds.

Meeting Of Varsity 'S' Off

Tomorrow's scheduled Fall meeting of the Varsity "S" club, at Stroudsburg High school, has been postponed until a later date, it was announced last night by Attorney Edward L. Williams, club president.

The postponement was made because of the East Stroudsburg-Penn Argyll football game and the importance of the A's-Yankees contest to be played on the same day.

New Date
A new date for the meeting will be announced in the near future. The meeting will reportedly be rescheduled so as not to interfere with area football games.

Betting Up At Wheeling Downs

Wheeling, W. Va., (AP)—Betting at Wheeling Downs averaged more than $230,000 daily and passed the 10 million-dollar mark in the first seven weeks of the current meeting at the half-mile horse racing oval.

Running Ahead
Auditor Henry B. Wessel Jr. said the mutual handle for the 55-day meeting, which will end October 4, is expected to top 12 million dollars. Attendance figures, he said, also are running ahead of a year ago.

For the first 44 days, including Monday of this week, 194,225 persons, or a daily average of almost 4,500, passed through the turnstiles. They wagered a total of $10,244,481.

Sen. Crowe Will Welcome Members Of Incodel Here Monday

River Basin Development Top Subject

The annual meeting of the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin (Incodel) will be held Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 29 and 30 at Pocono Manor Inn.

Registration for the meeting will begin at 9 a. m. Monday with "call to order" set for 10:30 a. m. with Elisha T. Barrett, assemblyman and chairman of the New York Legislative Committee on Interstate Cooperation presiding.

At 10:35 a. m. Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe, Stroudsburg, senator from Monroe, Carbon, Pike and Wayne Counties, will deliver the "Welcome to the Poconos" address which will officially open the meeting. Crowe has been removed as a member of Incodel by the Fine administration.

The annual report of chairman Francis A. Pitkin, director of the Pennsylvania State Planning Board will be heard at 10:45 a. m. on the opening day.

A discussion of the "purpose and functions of the Pennsylvania Water Resources Committee" will be held at 11:15 a. m. with Andrew J. Sordani, secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce presiding. recess is slated for 12:15 followed by the 12:45 p. m. luncheon at which Frank Lane, executive director of Incodel will give "A Report from the Council of State Governments."

Under the general discussion heading "A Symposium on National Water Policy" with Incodel Chairman Pitkin again presiding, the members will hear an address by Leland Olds beginning at 2:30 p. m.

Mr. Olds, who serves as a representative of the Interior Department of the national government, will discuss "President Truman's Water Resources Policy Commission Recommendations."

Views of the Engineers Joint Council will be given by Thorndike Saville, dean of the School of Engineering at New York University.

Following these two addresses, members will hear the positions on water policy expressed in both the Republican and Democratic national party platforms, with general discussion slated to come after these readings.

At a 7 p. m. conference dinner, the Incodel meeting will concern itself with "Philadelphia's Water Supply and Sewage Program" as described by Joseph S. Clark Jr., mayor of that city.

Call to order for the second day of the annual meeting is slated for 10 a. m. with Pitkin presiding and a "Progress Report on the Survey of Ground Water Resources in Greater Philadelphia-South Jersey Region" by Dr. Jack B. Graham, Ground Water Division of the U. S. Geological Survey.

Col. J. Harry Laflum, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia, will discuss the objectives and accomplishments of the Greater Philadelphia-South Jersey Council at 10:30 a. m.

A second symposium during the annual meeting will begin at 11 a. m. with Dr. Francis J. Trembley, professor of biology at Lehigh University talking on "Fishing Should be Great," a description of the effect on sportsmen and fishermen

Huge Trees Removed For Road Project

Delaware Water Gap — Half of the ancient maple trees that lined both sides of Broad Street, called "The Lane," have been removed by bulldozers to prepare for the sweep of road circles across this street.

Cullen Yates, who added to his fame by his sketches of the Gap, once declared that this shaded street and the view across the Crocodile fields to the Water Gap mountains was unsurpassed in the world for serene beauty and strength.

His friends recall how he guided an auto party he met below Bushkill to this street and corner to show them the spot from which "Cullen Yates painted the sketch used as a cover for the Literary Digest."

They traveled here from Connecticut to see the place and view, not knowing their guide was the famous painter, then a resident of Shawnee.

Teachers Will Meet Saturday

On Saturday, September 13, the late Summer meeting of the local branch of the National Association of Women Teachers was held at the bungalow of Miss Elizabeth Rockefeller.

Miss Cora Lange, of Newfoundland, Pa., was initiated into the Phi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma.

Dr. Mary C. Cleaver, president of Phi Chapter, reported to the group on the Chicago National Convention.

Meetings for the new season were planned. Delta Kappa Gamma will hold its November 8 gathering at the Hotel Fauchere in Milford, Pa.

Deeds Show Property Is Transferred

Several deeds were filed for transfer of property at the office of the Register and Recorder Floyd Butz, at the court house yesterday.

W. C. Walters and sons, Stewart H. and Raymond C., of Stroud Township, by their deed transferred a property on Chipperfield Rd., in the same area to John W. McLaughlin, of Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Yetter, of Smithfield Township, by their deed transferred 84 hundredths acre of land to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Carro, of 23 N. Elliott Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.
